Magnetite is useful for a wide range of garden variety spiritualistic uses. Some of these include base/grounding, protection, attraction, meditation, magic, etc. Lodestones are also magnetite and work similarly. The magnetism of the rock is useful for polarizing the mind, body and its Will.

Utilizing occult invisibility. At some point during your workings, you may need invisibility. This means you are blocking those who may see with their subconscious unwillingly or competitors who willingly enjoy the possibility of your defeat. Bodily invisibility is the least needed, but it is very possible as well—at least in the astral.

Compose the spell for invisibility, focus upon it and perform it completely. Utilize an alternative magical current than those who would be willing to see your demise in the initiation. It is a difficult power to master but its rewards are fruitful.

To break a hex, chant the vowel syllables, ground thyself to Earth, perform a kabalistic banishing and trace a “spiritual” symbol in each of the infinite sacred directions.

We have heard it time and again that the idol Baphomet also serves as a symbolical allegory for the Astral Light. This idea seems famous indeed. This is because of a gnostic outlook that Blavatsky took toward the Templars, and before her, Eliphas Levi.

Baphomet is a demon in the pantheistic sense and would correspond to the XV Devil card of the ROT(A) although not represented directly by it. As a diabolical entity, Baphomet is used by ceremonial oriented people who do perverse acts in the name of sorcery and summon his material godship. However, it is pointed out esoterically that the idol serves as a reminder of the manifold layers and spiritual reflections of the astral current, which, when approached with haste becomes a diabolical entity to those who work with it.

As above so below. The entity of Baphomet illustrates the impossibilities of mediumship and contacting the departed. It explains the tremendous difficulty of magic. The astral light reflects by the darkness of the hermaphroditic body and does not show clear imagery unless reduced by pure non-ceremonial kabala. This kabala is not easily acquired, hence the inaccuracy of nearly all forms of astral spiritual thought and/or readings, thus obscuring the inner wheel.

Fluoride. Is it that bad? It is added to the tap water. It is based from Fluorine. In small does it is harmless. It has a low-harmonic luciferian resonance to it, though. This is not easily explained, although under certain astro influences the effect can be felt. The reason it is placed in the water is that it maintains the government's spiritualism over the general public as a sort of reverse evil. In general the effect is not noticed and it is non-negative. However if there is a full moon in the 8th house or similar, then it resonates a negative under-harmonic of the luciferian energy. Don't drink any suspect water when occult sympathies are present, otherwise it is simply harmless when looked at isolated from all the other impurities found in today's municipal and “spring” water.

It is possible that psychic vampires will not be utterly defeated...but here's how you can deal with them. Two types persist: the conscious, nefarious sorts who dwell near large populations and various Earth-energy spots in order to facilitate their necessity of financial black art, and the terrestrial entity inhabitants who unconsciously eat and consume bio-electric magnetism for themselves.

Both types are similar in that the counter-measures useful in guarding against them utilize similar force-phenomena. First of all determine the amount of energy necessary to counter balance the vampire. Do not let them know they are identified in the astral. Now penetrate their mucoisial ether with Supreme Thought and Balance.
